

INFECTION CONTROL EXAMINATION

Certified Nursing Assistant

TRUE OR FALSE

1. The following prevent the spread of infection:
 - a. wearing gloves when handling body secretions
 - b. hand washing between each patient
 - c. maintaining between each patient
2. An individual who has had surgery is at risk of acquiring pneumonia.
3. The very young and the elderly are more prone to infection than those persons in the middle years of their lives.
4. If an individual is diagnosed with a respiratory tract disease i.e., tuberculosis, you would wear a mask because TB is airborne and dispose the patients tissues as infectious waste.
5. AIDS is transmitted through toilet seats.
6. Blood of all patients should be handled as if it was infectious.
7. It is possible to get Acquired Immune Deficiency Disease (AIDS) through blood and body fluids.
8. If a patient's bed linen is soiled with blood, it should be handled as if it were infectious.
9. The correct way of providing catheter care is wiping from front to back.
10. All infectious waste, i.e., trash, should be disposed of according to the Infectious Waste procedures of your hospital.
11. It is necessary to wash your hands between patients when emptying Foley bags.
12. Eating a well balanced diet help prevent infections.

End